COMMENT IN OPPOSITION TO THE PETITION TO AMEND RULE 32.4 OF
THE ARIZONA RULES OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE

Arizona Voice for Crime Victims (AVCV), the National Organization of Parents of Murdered Children (POMC), and the Valley of the Sun Chapter of Parents of Murdered Children respectfully submit this comment in opposition to the Petition to Amend Rule 32.4 of the Arizona Rules of Criminal Procedure.

AVCV, founded in 1996, is a non-profit organization located in Phoenix, Arizona that provides pro bono legal representation and social services to victims of crime in

1 state and federal criminal proceedings. AVCV seeks to foster a fair and compassionate
2 justice system in which all crime victims are informed of their rights under the laws of
3 the United States and Arizona, fully understand their rights, and have a meaningful way
4 to enforce their rights.

5 POMC, a non-profit organization that was founded in 1978, provides emotional
6 support and assistance to survivors of homicide victims. Through education, prevention,
7 advocacy, and awareness, POMC strives to create a world that is free of murder.
8 Nationally, POMC has over 60 chapters with tens of thousands of members including 9 over 1,500 members from the Valley of the Sun Chapter.

10 The proposed amendment to Rule 32.4 of the Arizona Rules of Criminal
11 Procedure, which would allow a petition for post-conviction relief in capital cases to be 12 filed within 18 months from the notice of post-conviction relief, is contrary to the express
13 constitutional rights afforded to crime victims in Arizona. Crime victims have a right to 14 justice and due process. Ariz. Const. art. II, §2.1(A). Additionally, they have a right to a 15 prompt and final conclusion of the case after the conviction and sentence. Ariz. Const.
16 art. II, §2.1(A)(10). Arizona courts are required to consider a crime victim's right to 17 reasonable finality. State v. Dixon, 226 Ariz. 545, 555, 250 P.3d 1174, 1184 (2011).

19 Crime victims have a legitimate interest in seeing that punishment is carried out as 20 it enables them to achieve a sense of true finality. Calderon v. Thompson, 523 U.S. 538, 21 555-56 (1998). The proposed amendment to Rule 32.4 would cause delay in the 22 imposition of punishment on an offender of the most heinous of crimes; thus, postponing
23 the sense of finality that victims are entitled to receive. Delaying finality has an adverse 24 physical and psychological impact on crime victims. The initial trauma caused by the 25

1 crime is compounded by a prolonged criminal justice process. Jim Parsons & Tiffany
2 Bergin, The Impact of Criminal Justice Involvement on Victims' Mental Health, 23 J.
3 Traum. Stress 182 (2010); Dean G. Kilpatrick & Ron Acierno, Mental Health Needs of 4 Crime Victims: Epidemiology and Outcomes, 16 J. Traum. Stress 119 (2003).

6 Crime Victims, as well as the state, have an important interest in timely
7 enforcement of a sentence. Hill v. McDonough, 547 U.S. 573, 584 (2006). Allowing a 8 mechanism for capital offenders to further delay the imposition of punishment, when 9 Rule 32.4 already permits courts to grant additional time to file a petition, will only 10 exacerbate the victim's experience with the criminal justice process and create a great 11 injustice in a system in which the rights of the victim should be balanced with those of 12 the convicted offender.

14 The Victims' Bill of Rights also gives the legislature the power to amend or repeal
15 the Arizona Rules of Criminal Procedure in order to uphold and protect victims' rights.
16 Ariz. Const. art. II, §2.1(A)(11). When acting to define, implement, preserve, and protect 17 specific rights that are unique to crime victims that are guaranteed and created under the 18 Victims' Bill of Rights, the legislature has the authority to act. State ex. Rel. Napolitano
19 v. Brown, 194 Ariz. 340, 343, 982 P.2d 815, 818 (Ariz. 1999). It is appropriate for the 20 legislature to act pursuant to Ariz. Const. art. II, §2.1(A)(11) when the right is unique and 21 specific to victims, protects an enumerated right under the Victims' Bill of Rights, and 22 when the action will advance victims' rights. State v. Hansen, 215 Ariz. 287, 290, 160
23 P.3d 166, 169 (Ariz. 2007). A victim's right to prompt and final conclusion of the case
24 after conviction and sentence is one that can fit the requirements that were laid out in 25

1 Brown and again in Hansen in a properly drafted statute that meets the objections the
2 Court found specifically in Brown. (“Because the time limits of the amendments do not
3 create rights or involve rights unique and specific to victims, and because they are not
4 needed to protect the enumerated rights of the VBR, paragraph ten of the VBR cannot
5 serve as a source of authority for the legislature to usurp this court's rulemaking authority
6 and enact time limits contrary to those set forth in Rule 32.4.c.” Brown at p.343-344).
7 Presumably then, the Legislature could draft a statute that involves a “right unique and 8 specific to victims” (the right to a prompt and final conclusion of the case) and which 9 would be needed to protect the enumerated right (because excessive delay violates that 10 right). Because this matter involves a substantive matter of statewide public policy it
11 should be left to the Legislature to change, if any change is to be made.
12

14 For the reasons set forth above, AVCV and POMC strongly oppose any extension
15 of time to file a petition for post-conviction relief.
16

17 Respectfully submitted May 20, 2013.
